AMM  GA.IT
business solutions

Being able to communicate through technology is more and more a vital need for every kind of company, at any level.

AMMEGA.IT was born in 2001 with the intent to provide institutional and business communication products and systems, transferring to them the experience of editorial and advertising tradition on the one side, and the search and conceiving of new instruments and new fields for communication on the other.

In fact now more than ever companies and institutions needs real intercommunicating ways in order to convey the information in many directions, keeping in touch, through interactivity, with their own users or customers.

Rephrasing John Donne

“No company is an island.”

AMMEGA.IT wants to look at its customers as part of a system rich of active exchanges and communicating synergies.

Hence the intent to promote interaction of thoughts and experiences in scientific and cultural spheres, to make possibile communication among institutions, companies and people through the endless chances of technology.
